

March 18, 1965, Vincent Foley letter

From the collections of Independence National Historical Park

Transcription of body of letter:

Dear Sir:

What a gutless wonder you must be! I can remember the guards in Independence Hall severely (sic) reprimanding the young son of a friend of mine when he just got close to the Liberty Bell.

Now you permit sleep-ins and misguided visitors to sleep all over the floor. How do you explain this kind of behavior?

You certainly must be terribly worried about losing your job when you sit back and let a bunch of clowns desecrate a shrine like the Liberty Bell.

Yours very truly,
Vincent R. Foley
